

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	4
2. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	taking her final bow.
3. The foody relished the dish by the head chef which was very spicy.	3
4. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	did not match traditional quantitative research.
5. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	4
6. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	he had made no progress.
7. The poet wrote a sonnet about a princess which did not rhyme at all.	4
8. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	challenged traditional thinking regarding the efficacy of CBT.
9. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	the harvest was late that year.
10. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The businesswoman met the mayor of the city who was nominated for an OBE.	4
12. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	had been responsible for the lack of progress.
13. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	2
14. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	inherited a huge quantity of bandages.
15. The vegan encouraged the new diet of her friend who used to eat almost anything.	4
16. The arbiter encouraged a dialogue between the opponents that ?	created a safe space to be non-judgemental about the issue.
17. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	2
18. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	4
19. The TV channel announced a report on the duke who had some dubious friends in the past.	5
20. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	the software developer thought were relevant.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	it started raining.
22. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	slightly out of tune.
23. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.	2
24. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	had waited all night to see which hat she would wear.
25. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	had not considered the impact of her actions.
26. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	1
27. The keynote uplifted the participants at the meeting who did not expect such eloquence.	4
28. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	liked watching puppet shows.
29. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	5
30. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	people have the option of not listening to it.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The kids mocked the goose of the farmer which was chattering frantically.	4
32. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	committed the bank robbery.
33. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	1
34. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	2
35. The playboy approached the main actress of the movie which had some explicit scenes in it.	2
36. The anthropologist approached the chief of the natives who ?	would allow the researcher to observe her ritual.
37. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	was postponed yet again.
38. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	tucked into mince and tatties.
39. The cult members mourned the death of their guru who had promised them an eternal afterlife.	4
40. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	had been hard fought.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	Japanese food is not popular in a Mexican restaurant.
42. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	notified the authorities of their route.
43. The coach ridiculed the groundsman of the football pitch which was very untidy.	2
44. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	told his husband he was leaving him.
45. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	4
46. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	5
47. The burglars fooled the watchman of the bank who was not expecting such audacity.	4
48. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	declared it a victory for arbitration.
49. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	wept for each item in his collection.
50. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. The pirate guarded the treasure chest of the captain who was notorious for his cruelty.	2
52. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	stupidly opened inward.
53. The doctor helped heal the horse's broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	1
54. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	2
55. The angry mob chastened the healer of the village which was afflicted by the plague.	2
56. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	stole their life savings.
57. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	A&E departments are 50% less busy on a Friday night.
58. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	toffee.
59. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.	5
60. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	told her what the employer was really looking for.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	naughty children.
62. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	my doorstep.
63. The sea inspired many artists of the 19th century which was the age of impressionism.	2
64. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	might challenge all previous knowledge of quantum particles.
65. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	she brought her taser.
66. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	1
67. The insurer appeased the tenant of the flat which reportedly had a water leak.	5
68. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	had not received adequate training.
69. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	haggis-hunt.
70. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	4

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The toddler nuzzled the fluffy toy of her playmate which was made of 100% polyester.	1
72. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	she found most cute.
73. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	1
74. The management of the successful supermarket chain planned ...	their retirement.
75. The sleazy agent harassed the mistress of the house who wasn't as gullible as he expected.	2
76. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	had an affair with her husband.
77. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	2
78. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	a disgrace.
79. The young girl feared the dog of the pensioner that always barked when it saw her.	2
80. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	were still at sea.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	the speaker squealed feedback.
82. The film was torn apart by cineastes, but most people thought it was too pretentious.	1
83. The cardinal idolized the painter of the famous fresco who was also an exquisite sculptor.	2
84. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	had catered her wedding.
85. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	it was his duty.
86. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	turned 2 pages at once.
87. The detective filed the testimony of the witness who was very cooperative.	5
88. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	dealt with customer complaints.
89. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	an oxygen tank and hospital bed in the front room.
90. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	1

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. The data spooked the advocate of the standard model who had expected the exact opposite.	1
92. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	knew they were on honeymoon.
93. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	1
94. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	emptied his possessions from number 10.
95. The guest congratulated the hostess of the party which was the biggest event in town.	3
96. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	had received the highest feedback rating.
97. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	1
98. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	travelling in groups.
99. The rich uncle visited the graduation of his niece who got a first-class degree.	5
100. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	had unexpected consequences.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
101. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	5
102. They waded through dusty cobwebs in the attic until they found boxes full of old board games.	5
103. The conductor praised the baritone singer of the choir who was a bit full of himself.	2
104. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	she had donated to for twenty years.
105. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	stolen.
106. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	1
107. The passenger forgave the attendant on the flight which operated a no alcohol policy.	2
108. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	had travelled to his home town for the match.
109. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.	4
110. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	one passenger missed her interview.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The plumber cleared the kitchen sink of the old lady who was living on her own.	4
112. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	had been unresponsive on the test run.
113. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	2
114. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	1
115. Mr Farage exalted the proposal by the US president which involved privatisation of the NHS.	1
116. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	were out at lunch.
117. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	5
118. The officer recalled that sails of the buccaneer's ship were ...	to be unfurled after being towed from the dock.
119. The tabloid vilified the landlord of the estate who did not care about fire regulations.	1
120. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	put pepper in his lunch.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a surprise party.
122. The accomplice of the recently convicted fraudster alleged they were only in it for the money.	2
123. The constant rain frustrated the celebrities in the camp which was infested with cockroaches.	3
124. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	hadn't listened to their advice.
125. There were rumours that the contract of the team's manager had not been ...	signed.
126. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	2
127. The priest worshipped the book by the medieval bishop which was precious and unique.	2
128. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	had got her through her teen years.
Time taken	41 mins