

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	4
2. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	2
3. The passenger insulted the attendant on the flight which operated a no alcohol policy.	4
4. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	had won the match.
5. The accomplice of the recently convicted fraudster alleged they were only in it for the money.	3
6. The management of the successful supermarket chain planned ...	a further expansion.
7. The foody criticized the dish by the head chef which was very spicy.	4
8. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	the statistics were drawn from.
9. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	no valuables at the scene.
10. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	the 9am train will leave thirty-five minutes late.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The commentary angered the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.	5
12. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	smiled and waved as she passed through the crowd.
13. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	3
14. The officer recalled that sails of the buccaneer's ship were ...	found washed up on nearby beaches afterwards.
15. The burglars surprised the watchman of the bank who was not expecting such audacity.	5
16. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	had not been adequately briefed.
17. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	4
18. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	2
19. The coach yelled at the groundsman of the football pitch which was very untidy.	5
20. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	were not using the equipment safely.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	1
22. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	3
23. The pirate buried the treasure chest of the captain who was notorious for his cruelty.	4
24. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	the queen had built for her lover.
25. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	4
26. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	summer fete.
27. The plumber fixed the kitchen sink of the old lady who was living on her own.	5
28. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	had come last in the race.
29. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	frayed.
30. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	4

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The rich uncle missed the graduation of his niece who got a first-class degree.	5
32. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	he should have been able to hit easily.
33. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	Cinderella and Sleeping Beauty.
34. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	3
35. The businesswoman married the mayor of the city who was nominated for an OBE.	5
36. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	had been authorised to drive a bargain on his behalf.
37. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	commissioned a photographer to visit his home and record it for posterity.
38. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	5
39. The constant rain annoyed the celebrities in the camp which was infested with cockroaches.	5
40. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	had pointed out many of the errors before publication, to no avail.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	5
42. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	5
43. The young girl fed the dog of the pensioner that always barked when it saw her.	2
44. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	if successful, would put the main ship in a more exposed position.
45. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	I filed my copy.
46. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	5
47. The toddler kissed the fluffy toy of her playmate which was made of 100% polyester.	3
48. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	she had founded.
49. The film was torn apart by cineastes, but most people thought it was too pretentious.	1
50. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	it overpowered the other flavours in the dish.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. The angry mob blamed the healer of the village which was afflicted by the plague.	2
52. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	had waited many years before coming forward.
53. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	he was no better off than he had been at the beginning.
54. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	my sister.
55. The guest envied the hostess of the party which was the biggest event in town.	5
56. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	had been singled out in the report for their achievements.
57. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	upended and the contents rifled through.
58. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	1
59. The sleazy agent flattered the mistress of the house who wasn't as gullible as he expected.	5
60. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	was so upset that he reported the harassment to the police.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	road casualties are down 16% this quarter.
62. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	5
63. The conductor disliked the baritone singer of the choir who was a bit full of himself.	4
64. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	had been shortlisted for the award.
65. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	2
66. The doctor helped heal the horse?s broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	1
67. The sea captivated many artists of the 19th century which was the age of impressionism.	4
68. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	is still relevant today.
69. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	4
70. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	fell in the park.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The vegan decried the new diet of her friend who used to eat almost anything.	4
72. The arbiter encouraged a dialogue between the opponents that ?	would lead to greater mutual understanding.
73. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	he stayed in his van and beeped the horn.
74. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	her performance.
75. The poet recited a sonnet about a princess which did not rhyme at all.	3
76. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	are often mistaken for one another.
77. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	5
78. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a bunch of flowers and a bottle of champagne.
79. Mr Farage welcomed the proposal by the US president which involved privatisation of the NHS.	2
80. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	would be arriving later that day.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	they had nowhere to go.
82. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	3
83. The cult members celebrated the death of their guru who had promised them an eternal afterlife.	5
84. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	would decide the new government.
85. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	has been put out to tender again.
86. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	5
87. The data astounded the advocate of the standard model who had expected the exact opposite.	5
88. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	was superstitious and felt it was sure to be a bad omen.
89. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	a half-empty one had taken off from a nearby runway.
90. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. The TV channel showed a report on the duke who had some dubious friends in the past.	2
92. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	we were trying to run.
93. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	the harvest is not as good as we hoped.
94. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	merely enjoyed the view from a distance and climbed a safer cliff nearby instead.
95. The keynote enlightened the participants at the meeting who did not expect such eloquence.	3
96. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	were in the right age bracket to enjoy it.
97. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	presents and encouraged them to play outside until dinner time.
98. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	camping and the lighting of fires in the forest.
99. The tabloid questioned the landlord of the estate who did not care about fire regulations.	4
100. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	had suddenly stopped turning up to school.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
101. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	2
102. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	5
103. The priest cherished the book by the medieval bishop which was precious and unique.	5
104. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	had broken up far too soon.
105. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	spun it dry and dressed it with oil and vinegar.
106. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	to be scrubbed on hands and knees by a different member of the battalion every morning.
107. The kids chased the goose of the farmer which was chattering frantically.	2
108. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	had evaded them so many times before.
109. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	suffered a heart attack in the middle of a rehearsal.
110. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	4

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The detective recorded the testimony of the witness who was very cooperative.	4
112. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	he had responded to the previous week.
113. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	5
114. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	4
115. The cardinal hired the painter of the famous fresco who was also an exquisite sculptor.	4
116. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	had been so popular at the last function.
117. They waded through dusty cobwebs in the attic until they found boxes full of old board games.	5
118. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	would get his just desserts in jail.
119. The insurer snubbed the tenant of the flat which reportedly had a water leak.	5
120. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	had bought her house.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	5
122. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	that they were taking risks and pursuing a new direction with their music.
123. The freshman looked up the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.	4
124. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	they had previously ignored.
125. There were rumours that the contract of the team?s manager had not been ...	renewed.
126. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	clearing her throat and smiling around at the audience.
127. The playboy beguiled the main actress of the movie which had some explicit scenes in it.	3
128. The anthropologist approached the chief of the natives who ?	gave her a warm welcome.
Time taken	201 mins