

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	3
2. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	took extra precautions.
3. The coach ridiculed the groundsman of the football pitch which was very untidy.	5
4. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	stormed off incredulously.
5. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	the building was secured with infra red lasers.
6. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	princes and princesses in a faraway land.
7. The keynote uplifted the participants at the meeting who did not expect such eloquence.	5
8. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	rainy afternoon.
9. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	3
10. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	3

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The guest congratulated the hostess of the party which was the biggest event in town.	4
12. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	accordingly beamed with pride.
13. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	3
14. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	1
15. Mr Farage exalted the proposal by the US president which involved privatisation of the NHS.	5
16. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	looked around sternly at his surroundings.
17. The doctor helped heal the horse's broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	4
18. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	5
19. The plumber cleared the kitchen sink of the old lady who was living on her own.	5
20. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	day, ensuring they were fit for purpose.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	3
22. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	1
23. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.	4
24. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	had been arranged on the desk.
25. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	3
26. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	3
27. The pirate guarded the treasure chest of the captain who was notorious for his cruelty.	3
28. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	grey and miserable afternoon.
29. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	3
30. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	Harvest Festival.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The detective filed the testimony of the witness who was very cooperative.	4
32. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	morning.
33. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	3
34. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	3
35. The TV channel announced a report on the duke who had some dubious friends in the past.	1
36. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	repeatedly crashed after updating.
37. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a weekend away.
38. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	1
39. The rich uncle visited the graduation of his niece who got a first-class degree.	4
40. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	weekend.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	3
42. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	suffered friction burns from the pavement.
43. The sleazy agent harassed the mistress of the house who wasn't as gullible as he expected.	2
44. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	refused to retaliate.
45. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	collapsed.
46. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	1
47. The toddler nuzzled the fluffy toy of her playmate which was made of 100% polyester.	4
48. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	sunny morning.
49. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	3
50. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	3

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. The sea inspired many artists of the 19th century which was the age of impressionism.	1
52. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	sought to overturn earlier findings.
53. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	3
54. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	3
55. The burglars fooled the watchman of the bank who was not expecting such audacity.	3
56. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	had not expected the Council to concede their position.
57. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	5
58. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	3
59. The priest worshipped the book by the medieval bishop which was precious and unique.	4
60. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	fateful day.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	a new man.
62. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	3
63. The angry mob chastened the healer of the village which was afflicted by the plague.	4
64. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	sat with his head bowed.
65. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	homemade cookies.
66. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	5
67. The constant rain frustrated the celebrities in the camp which was infested with cockroaches.	5
68. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	had worked so hard. (I think this should say research and not researcher)
69. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	that they wanted to try something different.
70. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	3

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The poet wrote a sonnet about a princess which did not rhyme at all.	5
72. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	summer.
73. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	3
74. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	many plants did not survive.
75. The insurer appeased the tenant of the flat which reportedly had a water leak.	4
76. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	remained polite and attentive in their duties.
77. There were rumours that the contract of the team's manager had not been ...	1
78. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	4
79. The cult members mourned the death of their guru who had promised them an eternal afterlife.	3
80. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	evening.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	3
82. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	3
83. The data spooked the advocate of the standard model who had expected the exact opposite.	4
84. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	lived two doors down the street.
85. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	2
86. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	3
87. The kids mocked the goose of the farmer which was chattering frantically.	4
88. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	icy Winter's evening, struggling to keep the vehicle under control.
89. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	3
90. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. The businesswoman met the mayor of the city who was nominated for an OBE.	5
92. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	warmly welcomed them into the conference room.
93. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	he brought treats in his pocket.
94. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	3
95. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.	1
96. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	had eagerly looked forward to the event.
97. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	2
98. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	3
99. The foody relished the dish by the head chef which was very spicy.	4
100. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	semester and encouraged others to critique them meticulously.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The young girl feared the dog of the pensioner that always barked when it saw her.	4
112. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	afternoon.
113. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	3
114. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	3
115. The tabloid vilified the landlord of the estate who did not care about fire regulations.	1
116. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	had made his school experience so distressing.
117. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	would be delayed significantly.
118. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	very few people like the taste of it.
119. The passenger forgave the attendant on the flight which operated a no alcohol policy.	1
120. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	fateful Saturday afternoon.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	4
122. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	1
123. The cardinal idolized the painter of the famous fresco who was also an exquisite sculptor.	1
124. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	particular weekend as every other company was fully booked.
125. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	2
126. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	3
127. The conductor praised the baritone singer of the choir who was a bit full of himself.	1
128. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	day, in contrast to his usual disparaging remarks about charity work.
Time taken	56 mins