

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	her speech.
2. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	used protective gear, such as harnesses.
3. The coach yelled at the groundsman of the football pitch which was very untidy.	2
4. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	were not doing their job properly
5. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	a dozen, hungry dogs in the lounge
6. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	ballerinas
7. The keynote enlightened the participants at the meeting who did not expect such eloquence.	4
8. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	were in dire need of moral support
9. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	5
10. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The guest envied the hostess of the party which was the biggest event in town.	4
12. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	were awarded the first place medal
13. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	5
14. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	most passengers became agitated
15. Mr Farage welcomed the proposal by the US president which involved privatisation of the NHS.	4
16. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	were in Cairo for business
17. The doctor helped heal the horse's broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	2
18. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	5
19. The plumber fixed the kitchen sink of the old lady who was living on her own.	5
20. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	had been damaged after a race

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	4
22. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	removed from the crime scene
23. The freshman looked up the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.	5
24. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	his data would be protected
25. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	went for a drink with his wife
26. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	5
27. The pirate buried the treasure chest of the captain who was notorious for his cruelty.	4
28. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	was situated in the middle of a busy square
29. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	he held his breath for seven minutes
30. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	fishing day

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The detective recorded the testimony of the witness who was very cooperative.	5
32. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	had been notoriously secretive
33. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	5
34. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	hosted a party
35. The TV channel showed a report on the duke who had some dubious friends in the past.	5
36. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	had been running for over an hour
37. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a flight to Santorini
38. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	there was severe turbulence
39. The rich uncle missed the graduation of his niece who got a first-class degree.	5
40. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	were next to each other

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	5
42. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	fell down a flight of stairs
43. The sleazy agent flattered the mistress of the house who wasn't as gullible as he expected.	2
44. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	was just learning how to use his Twitter account
45. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	fainted
46. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	2
47. The toddler kissed the fluffy toy of her playmate which was made of 100% polyester.	5
48. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	were playing around her
49. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	5
50. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	had tried fleeing the country

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. The sea captivated many artists of the 19th century which was the age of impressionism.	5
52. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	needed a further explanation
53. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	5
54. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	5
55. The burglars surprised the watchman of the bank who was not expecting such audacity.	3
56. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	began to cry
57. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	5
58. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	cleaned
59. The priest cherished the book by the medieval bishop which was precious and unique.	4
60. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	were about love

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	he finally had his schizophrenia under control
62. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	not tuned properly
63. The angry mob blamed the healer of the village which was afflicted by the plague.	2
64. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	put themselves in such a vulnerable position
65. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	broccoli to punish them for getting detention
66. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	3
67. The constant rain annoyed the celebrities in the camp which was infested with cockroaches.	2
68. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	felt that they were unnecessarily negative
69. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	that it was just for fun
70. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	there have been less accidents per annum

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The poet recited a sonnet about a princess which did not rhyme at all.	1
72. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	truly encapsulated the stigma experienced by patients suffering from them
73. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	4
74. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	the tourists had to alter their itinerary
75. The insurer snubbed the tenant of the flat which reportedly had a water leak.	2
76. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	she deemed unworthy of her attention
77. There were rumours that the contract of the team's manager had not been ...	renewed
78. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	2
79. The cult members celebrated the death of their guru who had promised them an eternal afterlife.	4
80. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	had stressed them out for months

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	took a smoke break
82. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	he wanted to
83. The data astounded the advocate of the standard model who had expected the exact opposite.	2
84. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	had never lived in a flat before
85. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	1
86. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	5
87. The kids chased the goose of the farmer which was chattering frantically.	4
88. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	was much faster than their own
89. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	the old lady's flat
90. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	entry after midnight

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. The businesswoman married the mayor of the city who was nominated for an OBE.	5
92. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	were very difficult to convince
93. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	he will just throw the packages in the garden
94. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	3
95. The commentary angered the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.	4
96. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	all wore plastic colourful crowns
97. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	5
98. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	1
99. The foody criticized the dish by the head chef which was very spicy.	4
100. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	were faulty

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
101. The accomplice of the recently convicted fraudster alleged they were only in it for the money.	4
102. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.	5
103. The vegan decried the new diet of her friend who used to eat almost anything.	2
104. The arbiter encouraged a dialogue between the opponents that ?	were too shy to speak initially
105. They waded through dusty cobwebs in the attic until they found boxes full of old board games.	5
106. The film was torn apart by cineastes, but most people thought it was too pretentious.	2
107. The playboy beguiled the main actress of the movie which had some explicit scenes in it.	4
108. The anthropologist approached the chief of the natives who ?	was dressed very differently
109. The officer recalled that sails of the buccaneer's ship were ...	painted black
110. The management of the successful supermarket chain planned ...	an expansion

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The young girl fed the dog of the pensioner that always barked when it saw her.	5
112. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	were much smaller but just as valuable
113. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	1
114. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	4
115. The tabloid questioned the landlord of the estate who did not care about fire regulations.	5
116. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	did not approve of their behaviour
117. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	was closely monitored by ten civil engineers instead of three
118. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	of how spicy it is
119. The passenger insulted the attendant on the flight which operated a no alcohol policy.	4
120. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	were peacefully watching the game

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	2
122. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	5
123. The cardinal hired the painter of the famous fresco who was also an exquisite sculptor.	4
124. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	had impressed him at the previous gathering
125. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	5
126. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	1
127. The conductor disliked the baritone singer of the choir who was a bit full of himself.	4
128. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	had managed to raise a lot of money for UNICEF
Time taken	45 mins