

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	5
2. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	the show.
3. The foody criticized the dish by the head chef who was newly appointed.	2
4. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	were used.
5. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	5
6. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	a failure.
7. The poet recited a sonnet about a princess who fell in love with a peasant.	5
8. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	affect only women.
9. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	I wore my coat a lot more than usual.
10. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The businesswoman married the mayor of the city which was famous for its museums.	4
12. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	worked for the company.
13. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	3
14. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	fell.
15. The vegan encouraged the new diet of her friend which mainly consisted of crisps.	2
16. The arbiter encouraged a dialogue between the opponents that ?	fought.
17. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	5
18. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	5
19. The TV channel announced a report on the duke which contained highly charged footage.	3
20. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	I was running.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	I fell asleep.
22. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	squeaky.
23. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally who was passionate about climate change.	5
24. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	clapped as she went past.
25. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	was guilty.
26. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	1
27. The keynote enlightened the participants at the meeting which was rather boring until then.	2
28. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	was on the third floor.
29. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	5
30. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	?We?re artists, man!?

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The kids chased the goose of the farmer who was milking the cows.	3
32. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	had robbed the bank.
33. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	3
34. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	5
35. The playboy approached the main actress of the movie who felt very uncomfortable about it.	3
36. The anthropologist approached the chief of the natives who ?	ran the village.
37. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	has been delayed.
38. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	was chopped.
39. The cult members mourned the death of their guru which spelled the dawn of a new age to them.	4
40. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	took place last year.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	it was too hot.
42. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	went home.
43. The coach ridiculed the groundsman of the football pitch who was seemingly drunk.	1
44. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	was nowhere to be seen.
45. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	2
46. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	5
47. The burglars surprised the watchman of the bank which was located near the town hall.	5
48. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	hadn?t had a raise for some years.
49. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	had a party.
50. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. The pirate guarded the treasure chest of the captain which was full of stolen gems.	5
52. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	the queen lived in.
53. The doctor helped heal the horse's broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	2
54. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	1
55. The angry mob chastened the healer of the village who was rumoured to practice witchcraft.	4
56. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	had committed the crime.
57. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	there were fewer accidents.
58. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	sweets.
59. The freshman looked up the notes from the tutor who had given the stats course.	5
60. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	he had to fill out.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	fairies.
62. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	my mum.
63. The sea inspired many artists of the 19th century who called themselves impressionists.	4
64. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	was seminal.
65. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	he was more careful.
66. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	1
67. The insurer appeased the tenant of the flat who complained about the water leak.	5
68. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	used to own the house.
69. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	carnival.
70. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	4

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The toddler kissed the fluffy toy of her playmate who was crying for his mum.	4
72. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	she donated to.
73. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	5
74. The management of the successful supermarket chain planned ...	a party.
75. The sleazy agent flattered the mistress of the house which was apparently up for sale.	4
76. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	lost the election.
77. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	2
78. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	cleaned.
79. The young girl fed the dog of the pensioner who hoarded old newspapers in his flat.	4
80. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	Followed.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	commenting.
82. The film was torn apart by cineastes, but most people thought it was too pretentious.	4
83. The cardinal hired the painter of the famous fresco which graced the ceiling of the chapel.	2
84. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	had been used before.
85. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	he was kind.
86. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	fainted.
87. The detective filed the testimony of the witness which was very detailed.	3
88. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	received them.
89. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	nothing.
90. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	2

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. The data astounded the advocate of the standard model which predicted the exact opposite.	4
92. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	we're arguing.
93. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	2
94. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	his ratings reduced significantly!
95. The guest congratulated the hostess of the party who was celebrating her latest promotion.	4
96. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	passed their exams.
97. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	1
98. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	parties in the forest.
99. The rich uncle visited the graduation of his niece which was held on campus.	3
100. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	he shot at.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
101. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	5
102. They waded through dusty cobwebs in the attic until they found boxes full of old board games.	5
103. The conductor disliked the baritone singer of the choir which had about 30 members.	5
104. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	had raised money for cats.
105. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	stolen.
106. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	5
107. The passenger forgave the attendant on the flight who refused to serve him alcohol.	4
108. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	lost.
109. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.	5
110. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	I was late for work.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The plumber cleared the kitchen sink of the old lady which had taken ages to drain.	4
112. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	had broken down.
113. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	5
114. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	5
115. Mr Farage welcomed the proposal by the US president who was keen to exploit the NHS.	5
116. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	were visiting the UK.
117. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	2
118. The officer recalled that sails of the buccaneer's ship were ...	flying.
119. The tabloid questioned the landlord of the estate which still had combustible cladding.	2
120. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	had hurt the injured child.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a present.
122. The accomplice of the recently convicted fraudster alleged they were only in it for the money.	5
123. The constant rain frustrated the celebrities in the camp who hadn't had a proper meal for days.	5
124. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	had tried their best.
125. There were rumours that the contract of the team's manager had not been ...	finalised.
126. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	4
127. The priest cherished the book by the medieval bishop who later had become a saint.	2
128. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	had gone to number one.
Time taken	27 mins