

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	5
2. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	cleaned the mansion of all dust and dirt.
3. The guest congratulated the hostess of the party who was celebrating her latest promotion.	4
4. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	helped the class get high grades.
5. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	stolen.
6. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	4
7. The keynote enlightened the participants at the meeting which was rather boring until then.	2
8. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	looked after ill kids.
9. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	4
10. The accomplice of the recently convicted fraudster alleged they were only in it for the money.	2

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The cult members mourned the death of their guru which spelled the dawn of a new age to them.	1
12. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	their party won.
13. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	5
14. There were rumours that the contract of the team's manager had not been ...	fulfilled properly.
15. The TV channel announced a report on the duke which contained highly charged footage.	3
16. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	were causing bugs in the programming.
17. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	candy.
18. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	the owner kept the dog inside.
19. The playboy approached the main actress of the movie who felt very uncomfortable about it.	3
20. The anthropologist approached the chief of the natives who ?	were trying to help them.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	they delivered their speech.
22. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	5
23. The conductor disliked the baritone singer of the choir which had about 30 members.	2
24. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	helped those suffering with cancer.
25. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	their music wasn't for everyone.
26. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	1
27. The insurer appeased the tenant of the flat who complained about the water leak.	4
28. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	were trying to offer her refreshments.
29. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	some towns became flooded.
30. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	wound very tightly.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The foody criticized the dish by the head chef who was newly appointed.	1
32. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	undermined his discovery.
33. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	4
34. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	2
35. The sleazy agent flattered the mistress of the house which was apparently up for sale.	2
36. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	had different opinions from him.
37. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	any hunting in the area.
38. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.	5
39. The cardinal hired the painter of the famous fresco which graced the ceiling of the chapel.	3
40. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	had the best reviews.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	2
42. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	passed out.
43. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally who was passionate about climate change.	3
44. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	were celebrating her birthday.
45. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	5
46. The doctor helped heal the horse?s broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	2
47. The rich uncle visited the graduation of his niece which was held on campus.	4
48. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	ended up costing him his gun license.
49. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	4
50. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	1

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. The freshman looked up the notes from the tutor who had given the stats course.	4
52. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	contained important information.
53. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	seasoned it before serving it.
54. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	3
55. The detective filed the testimony of the witness which was very detailed.	4
56. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	were very confidential.
57. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	he wanted to help in any way he could.
58. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	a note to the house owner containing bad news.
59. The sea inspired many artists of the 19th century who called themselves impressionists.	4
60. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	would later help shape every study related to them.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. They waded through dusty cobwebs in the attic until they found boxes full of old board games.	3
62. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	1
63. The plumber cleared the kitchen sink of the old lady which had taken ages to drain.	2
64. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	was close to breaking.
65. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	5
66. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	1
67. The tabloid questioned the landlord of the estate which still had combustible cladding.	4
68. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	were threatening children.
69. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a thoughtful gift.
70. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	he was really improving.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The priest cherished the book by the medieval bishop who later had become a saint.	4
72. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	had split up many years ago.
73. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	5
74. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	2
75. The poet recited a sonnet about a princess who fell in love with a peasant.	5
76. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	helped to normalise them.
77. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	was guilty.
78. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	had to take many safety items with them.
79. The pirate guarded the treasure chest of the captain which was full of stolen gems.	4
80. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	the royal family were currently residing in.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	many travellers were late for work.
82. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	had to be delayed.
83. The angry mob chastened the healer of the village who was rumoured to practice witchcraft.	4
84. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	had stolen many of their identities.
85. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	2
86. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	3
87. The businesswoman married the mayor of the city which was famous for its museums.	2
88. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	were instructed to get as much information as possible.
89. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	had fallen off their boards.
90. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	lions and tigers and bears.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. Mr Farage welcomed the proposal by the US president who was keen to exploit the NHS.	5
92. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	had arrived early for the meeting.
93. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	4
94. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	made headlines in national news.
95. The passenger forgave the attendant on the flight who refused to serve him alcohol.	4
96. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	were playing their home team.
97. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	4
98. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	scrubbed clean.
99. The toddler kissed the fluffy toy of her playmate who was crying for his mum.	2
100. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	were in desperate need of adoption.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
101. The film was torn apart by cineastes, but most people thought it was too pretentious.	2
102. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	5
103. The coach ridiculed the groundsman of the football pitch who was seemingly drunk.	4
104. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	weren't paying attention.
105. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	the amount of people caught speeding increased.
106. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	the cabin crew instructed the passengers to return to their seats.
107. The burglars surprised the watchman of the bank which was located near the town hall.	3
108. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	didn't expect those above him to listen.
109. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	it would not compliment the rest of the meal.
110. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	2

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The young girl fed the dog of the pensioner who hoarded old newspapers in his flat.	3
112. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	would sink half their battalion.
113. The management of the successful supermarket chain planned ...	new upgrades to their stores.
114. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	they performed a beautiful tribute act.
115. The vegan encouraged the new diet of her friend which mainly consisted of crisps.	5
116. The arbiter encouraged a dialogue between the opponents that ?	would help them see common ground.
117. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	pride festival.
118. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	1
119. The constant rain frustrated the celebrities in the camp who hadn't had a proper meal for days.	5
120. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	had put a lot of effort into their work.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	5
122. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	a young boy on his birthday.
123. The kids chased the goose of the farmer who was milking the cows.	2
124. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	was very conspicuous compared to your typical car.
125. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	5
126. The officer recalled that sails of the buccaneer's ship were ...	blue and red in colour.
127. The data astounded the advocate of the standard model which predicted the exact opposite.	4
128. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	didn't know someone had moved in next door.
Time taken	85 mins