

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	3
2. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	Relocated
3. The guest envied the hostess of the party who was celebrating her latest promotion.	3
4. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	Had acted promptly
5. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	tampered with
6. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	3
7. The keynote uplifted the participants at the meeting which was rather boring until then.	5
8. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	Hosted the show
9. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	3
10. The accomplice of the recently convicted fraudster alleged they were only in it for the money.	3

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The cult members celebrated the death of their guru which spelled the dawn of a new age to them.	2
12. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	had previously eluded them
13. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	3
14. There were rumours that the contract of the team's manager had not been ...	Renewed
15. The TV channel showed a report on the duke which contained highly charged footage.	3
16. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	I wished to watch
17. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	Gifts to placate him.
18. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	He brought a big stick.
19. The playboy beguiled the main actress of the movie who felt very uncomfortable about it.	3
20. The anthropologist approached the chief of the natives who ?	Backed away nervously

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	coughing loudly.
22. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	3
23. The conductor praised the baritone singer of the choir which had about 30 members.	3
24. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	had donated so generously
25. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	Licensing difficulties, as the culprit.
26. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	3
27. The insurer snubbed the tenant of the flat who complained about the water leak.	3
28. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	had worked diligently.
29. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	the Garden Centre went out of business.
30. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	unusually slack.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The foody relished the dish by the head chef who was newly appointed.	3
32. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	He disliked generally.
33. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	3
34. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	3
35. The sleazy agent harassed the mistress of the house which was apparently up for sale.	3
36. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	had ignored his online rants.
37. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	any feeding of the indigenous animals.
38. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.	3
39. The cardinal idolized the painter of the famous fresco which graced the ceiling of the chapel.	3
40. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	had sent the best CV

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	5
42. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	was shot by an sniper.
43. The commentary angered the organizer of the rally who was passionate about climate change.	3
44. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	were enthralled by her obvious joy.
45. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	3
46. The doctor helped heal the horse?s broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	2
47. The rich uncle missed the graduation of his niece which was held on campus.	2
48. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	he habitually shot at.
49. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	3
50. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor who had given the stats course.	3
52. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	necessitated a full response.
53. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	continued with her duties.
54. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	3
55. The detective recorded the testimony of the witness which was very detailed.	3
56. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	she found lying around.
57. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	there but for the Grace of God, Go I!
58. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	evidence of the undead.
59. The sea captivated many artists of the 19th century who called themselves impressionists.	3
60. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	Inspired a generation

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. They waded through dusty cobwebs in the attic until they found boxes full of old board games.	3
62. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	1
63. The plumber fixed the kitchen sink of the old lady which had taken ages to drain.	1
64. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	Required fixing.
65. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	3
66. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	3
67. The tabloid vilified the landlord of the estate which still had combustible cladding.	3
68. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	may have had information, about the offence.
69. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a gift she had lusted after for ages.
70. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	he had been rode hard and put away wet.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The priest worshipped the book by the medieval bishop who later had become a saint.	3
72. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	Reminded him of his youth.
73. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	3
74. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	3
75. The poet wrote a sonnet about a princess who fell in love with a peasant.	3
76. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	Shook the industry, to the core.
77. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	was guilty, despite the evidence.
78. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	Wisely drank no alcohol, the evening before the climb.
79. The pirate buried the treasure chest of the captain which was full of stolen gems.	3
80. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	protected the Royal Family from the angry protesters.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	The young man was denied entrance to the gig.
82. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	was halted for a further 3 months
83. The angry mob blamed the healer of the village who was rumoured to practice witchcraft.	3
84. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	should have had more sense.
85. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	3
86. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	5
87. The businesswoman met the mayor of the city which was famous for its museums.	1
88. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	who could answer for the Boss.
89. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	had spilled onto gravel.
90. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	Tarzan the Ape Man.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. Mr Farage exalted the proposal by the US president who was keen to exploit the NHS.	3
92. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	would precede their arrival.
93. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	1
94. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	suffered a fatal heart attack.
95. The passenger insulted the attendant on the flight who refused to serve him alcohol.	3
96. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	had just arrived by Train
97. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	3
98. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	to be polished until he could see his face in it.
99. The toddler nuzzled the fluffy toy of her playmate who was crying for his mum.	3
100. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	she had visited for the benefit of the Press.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
101. The film was torn apart by cineastes, but most people thought it was too pretentious.	4
102. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	3
103. The coach yelled at the groundsman of the football pitch who was seemingly drunk.	3
104. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	we're consistently lazing about.
105. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	fatality figures were down for another year.
106. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	a small child had begun crying hysterically
107. The burglars fooled the watchman of the bank which was located near the town hall.	2
108. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	had suspected a pay cut was imminent.
109. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	guests had intimated a distance for hot spices.
110. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	3

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The young girl feared the dog of the pensioner who hoarded old newspapers in his flat.	3
112. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	he suspected would expose the Fleet.
113. The management of the successful supermarket chain planned ...	for a celebration in the coming months.
114. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	entertaining residents of the Care Home.
115. The vegan decried the new diet of her friend which mainly consisted of crisps.	3
116. The arbiter encouraged a dialogue between the opponents that ?	He hoped would solve their differences.
117. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	20km road race.
118. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	3
119. The constant rain annoyed the celebrities in the camp who hadn't had a proper meal for days.	3
120. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	had worked tirelessly for months on the novel.

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	3
122. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	the slightly irritated night shift worker.
123. The kids mocked the goose of the farmer who was milking the cows.	1
124. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	had eluded capture across 3 States.
125. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	3
126. The officer recalled that sails of the buccaneer's ship were ...	perfectly fixed to catch as much wind as possible.
127. The data spooked the advocate of the standard model which predicted the exact opposite.	3
128. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	had used a glass against the wall, to spy on them.
Time taken	142 mins