

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
1. The robber decided to leave empty-handed after he found ?	nothing
2. The passengers on the bus looked on in confusion as they forded through the River Clyde.	5
3. The playboy beguiled the main actress of the movie which had some explicit scenes in it.	3
4. The anthropologist approached the chief of the natives who ?	watched with distrust
5. The inspector learnt that the handbag of the diplomat's wife had been ...	stolen
6. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards ...	retreated back into Number 10
7. The conductor disliked the baritone singer of the choir who was a bit full of himself.	5
8. The head of state praised the work of the charities that ?	continued despite dangerous conditions
9. The lieutenant ordered that the floors of the battalion's barracks were ...	scrubbed
10. The invited speaker switched on the microphone before ...	launching into their speech

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
11. The TV channel showed a report on the duke who had some dubious friends in the past.	5
12. The screen showed error messages of the programme that ?	made no sense
13. The teenagers barricaded the main entrance of the school so that no one could get in.	5
14. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.	4
15. The commentary angered the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.	3
16. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who ?	clapped loudly
17. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time ?	they stood away from the door
18. The expert claimed the earthquake was due to a seismic slip from drilling on an oil rig.	5
19. The tabloid questioned the landlord of the estate who did not care about fire regulations.	5
20. The headmaster questioned the classmate of the bullies who ?	had seen the incident

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
21. Ever since the DEA cracked down on illicit drugs, dealers began investing in cryptocurrency.	5
22. The van driver nearly crashed into the pedestrians because he was staring at his phone.	5
23. The insurer snubbed the tenant of the flat which reportedly had a water leak.	4
24. The baroness snubbed the housemaids of the millionaire who ?	were neatly standing by
25. The accomplice of the recently convicted fraudster alleged they were only in it for the money.	4
26. Since the mountain was incredibly dangerous, the rock climbers ?	took extra care
27. The passenger insulted the attendant on the flight which operated a no alcohol policy.	4
28. The hooligan insulted the supporters of the foreign team that ?	had just scored
29. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.	5
30. The overeager Crown Prosecutor alleged that the defendant ...	had run over three miles

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
31. The sleazy agent flattered the mistress of the house who wasn't as gullible as he expected.	4
32. The internet troll harassed the candidate of the Lib Dems who ?	had dared to be a woman
33. The old lady brought her troublesome grandchildren some ?	chocolate
34. The picnic was going so well until swans from the pond feasted on all the bread.	4
35. The vegan decried the new diet of her friend who used to eat almost anything.	3
36. The arbiter encouraged a dialogue between the opponents that ?	quickly failed
37. The wizard invited acclaimed adventures to his castle to steal their vast riches.	4
38. The ranger of the forest near the city borders forbid ...	any interlopers
39. The keynote enlightened the participants at the meeting who did not expect such eloquence.	5
40. The puppet show uplifted the children at the ward that ?	had looked despondent before

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
41. The interviewer listened patiently before noticing that he did not pay attention.	4
42. When I was younger my mother used to read me bedtime stories about ?	King Arthur
43. The foody criticized the dish by the head chef which was very spicy.	4
44. The scientist criticised the methods of the study that ?	had p-hacked
45. The skateboarders had to bandage up their knees after they ?	all failed the jump
46. The church choir had to stop unexpectedly after the organist ?.	collapsed
47. The data astounded the advocate of the standard model who had expected the exact opposite.	5
48. The shouting spooked the neighbour of the newlyweds who ?	went out to check they were alright
49. The soldiers charged into the jungle in the search of hidden Aztec artefacts.	4
50. The labourer loaded planks of timber onto the van before he drove off to the building site.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
51. Mr Farage welcomed the proposal by the US president which involved privatisation of the NHS.	5
52. The receptionist welcomed the secretary of the diplomats who ?	had just arrived
53. After washing the salad with its firm green leaves, the scullion ...	quickly ate a few
54. The film was torn apart by cineastes, but most people thought it was too pretentious.	2
55. The priest cherished the book by the medieval bishop which was precious and unique.	4
56. The pop fan cherished the albums of the band that ?	had recently split
57. The small island town held a celebration for its 50th annual ?	groundhog day
58. Thanks to stricter speed checks on national motorways ...	average speeds had reduced by 0.3 mph
59. The poet recited a sonnet about a princess which did not rhyme at all.	3
60. The psychologist wrote an article on mental disorders that ?	was immediately condemned

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
61. The woman complained that the bicycles of the neighbour's kids were leaving black marks.	4
62. To help the penguins digest, zookeepers urged patrons not to deep fry fish.	5
63. The constant rain annoyed the celebrities in the camp which was infested with cockroaches.	4
64. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who ?	had known this would happen
65. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, ...	the lights had started to flicker
66. Because of last night's TV documentary, the young woman vowed never to eat meat again.	5
67. The rich uncle missed the graduation of his niece who got a first-class degree.	4
68. The shooter missed two targets at the firing range that ?	even a beginner would have hit
69. The management of the successful supermarket chain planned ...	their next expansion
70. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were ...	out of tune

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
71. The freshman looked up the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.	3
72. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?	informed them of their lack of rights
73. Because of a considerable delay of the 7.30am train, ...	all outgoing trains have been cancelled
74. They waded through dusty cobwebs in the attic until they found boxes full of old board games.	5
75. The guest envied the hostess of the party which was the biggest event in town.	4
76. The principal congratulated the supervisor of the students who ?	had done all of the work
77. The politician blustered that future rioters will be facing the full force of the law.	5
78. The rainstorm raged on through the country, causing back-to-back traffic for miles.	5
79. The coach yelled at the groundsman of the football pitch which was very untidy.	4
80. The boss yelled at the trainees of the foreman who ?	had broken the machinery

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
81. Given the reports about quicksand, the adventurer decided the best would be to wait.	5
82. There were rumours that the contract of the team's manager had not been ...	renewed
83. The cardinal hired the painter of the famous fresco who was also an exquisite sculptor.	4
84. The promoter hired the staffers of the catering firm that ?	had supplied them before
85. Before selling his mansion with all its antique interior, the earl ...	took photographs of every room
86. The preschoolers rounded up as many snails as they could find for another busy day.	4
87. The burglars surprised the watchman of the bank who was not expecting such audacity.	5
88. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?	had assumed there was not enough money
89. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.	5
90. The cat impressed all at the talent show by demonstrating an understanding of calculus.	3

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
91. The cult members celebrated the death of their guru who had promised them an eternal afterlife.	3
92. The campaigners celebrated the outcome of the elections that ?	had unexpectedly swung in their favour
93. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks waddled across the road.	5
94. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like ?	he had made little improvement
95. The sea captivated many artists of the 19th century which was the age of impressionism.	4
96. The theory inspired research on quantum particles that ?	lead to widespread improvements
97. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop.	4
98. The hairdresser was chatting to her colleague in order to honour an old tradition of the trade.	5
99. The detective recorded the testimony of the witness who was very cooperative.	5
100. The secretary filed the letters from the department that ?	recorded their difficulties

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
101. The doctor helped heal the horse's broken leg until she made a miraculous recovery.	4
102. The friendly mailman delivered a small parcel to ...	the child
103. The kids chased the goose of the farmer which was chattering frantically.	3
104. The cops chased the getaway car of the mobsters that ?	swerved onto the motorway
105. The priest looked after the asylum seekers because ...	he was compassionate
106. The musicians deflected criticisms of their new CD, stating ?	the audience did not appreciate their creativity
107. The businesswoman married the mayor of the city who was nominated for an OBE.	3
108. The negotiator met the deputies of the chairman who ?	was indisposed
109. The famous entertainer was given a bunch of flowers after ...	an unremarkable performance
110. According to the monk in plaster cast, the steps down the temple were a bit steep.	5

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
111. The young girl fed the dog of the pensioner that always barked when it saw her.	4
112. The admiral feared an attack on the support ships that ?	were vulnerable
113. The officer recalled that sails of the buccaneer's ship were ...	died black
114. Because of unexpectedly harsh weather conditions in spring, ?	an entire season's worth of crops failed
115. The toddler kissed the fluffy toy of her playmate which was made of 100% polyester.	5
116. The diva kissed the puppies at the dog shelter that ?	barked excitedly
117. The grandmaster reluctantly went to the chessboard where he faced a supercomputer.	5
118. The company was worried about their eco-friendly image, so they planted some trees.	5
119. The plumber fixed the kitchen sink of the old lady who was living on her own.	5
120. The mechanic fixed the brakes of the F1 car that ?	had broken free

Original Sentence	Participant Answer
121. The cook decided that wasabi was a poor choice because ?	the costumers were not prepared
122. Due to new safety regulations, the construction of the new bridge ?	was delayed
123. The angry mob blamed the healer of the village which was afflicted by the plague.	4
124. The defence lawyer blamed the victims of the conman who ?	had failed to notice the money leaving their accounts
125. All her friends chipped in for her birthday to surprise her with ?	a cake
126. The patient had to wait for quite some time before being told to come back another time.	5
127. The pirate buried the treasure chest of the captain who was notorious for his cruelty.	4
128. The soldier guarded the gates to the palace that ?	held the king
Time taken	30 mins