| Original Sentence                 | Participant Answer |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------|
| The hairdresser was chatting      | 4                  |
| to her colleague in order to      | -                  |
| honour an                         |                    |
| old tradition of the              |                    |
| trade.                            |                    |
| 2. The rainstorm raged on         | 5                  |
| through the country, causing      |                    |
| back-to-back                      |                    |
| traffic for miles.                |                    |
| 3. The toddler nuzzled the fluffy | 5                  |
| toy of her playmate which was     |                    |
| made                              |                    |
| of 100% polyester.                |                    |
| 4. The diva kissed the puppies    | night              |
| at the dog shelter that?          | 19                 |
| 5. The patient had to wait for    | 5                  |
| quite some time before being      |                    |
| told to                           |                    |
| come back another                 |                    |
| time.                             |                    |
| 6. The doctor helped heal the     | 5                  |
| horse?s broken leg until she      |                    |
| made a                            |                    |
| miraculous recovery.              |                    |
| 7. The passenger forgave the      | 5                  |
| attendant on the flight which     |                    |
| operated a                        |                    |
| no alcohol policy.                |                    |
| 8. The hooligan insulted the      | won the match.     |
| supporters of the foreign team    |                    |
| that?                             |                    |
| 9. The labourer loaded planks of  | 5                  |
| timber onto the van before he     |                    |
| drove                             |                    |
| off to the building site.         |                    |
| 10. There were rumours that the   | 1                  |
| contract of the team?s manager    |                    |
| had                               |                    |
| not been                          |                    |

| Original Sentence   | Participant Answer     |
|---|------------------------|
| 11. The poet wrote a sonnet                                 | 5                      |
| about a princess which did not                              |                        |
| rhyme at  |                        |
| all.  |                        |
| 12. The psychologist wrote an                               | affect the youths.     |
| article on mental disorders that ?                          |                        |
| 13. Ever since the DEA cracked                              | 4                      |
| down on illicit drugs, dealers                              |                        |
| began   |                        |
| investing in  |                        |
| cryptocurrency.   |                        |
| 14. The cook decided that                                   | it was too spicy.      |
| wasabi was a poor choice                                    |                        |
| because   |                        |
| 15. The east inspired many                                  | 5                      |
| 15. The sea inspired many artists of the 19th century which | 5                      |
| was the   |                        |
| age of impressionism.                                       |                        |
| 16. The theory inspired research                            | was quite interesting. |
| on quantum particles that                                   |                        |
| 17. The grandmaster reluctantly                             | 2                      |
| went to the chessboard where he                             |                        |
| faced   |                        |
| a supercomputer.  18. The small island town held a          |                        |
|   | get together.          |
| celebration for its 50th annual?                            |                        |
| 19. The angry mob chastened                                 | 3                      |
| the healer of the village which                             |                        |
| was   |                        |
| afflicted by the plague.                                    | was found suilty       |
| 20. The defence lawyer blamed                               | was found guilty.      |
| the victims of the conman who                               |                        |
| ?   |                        |

| Original Sentence                 | Participant Answer |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------|
| 21. The lieutenant ordered that   | 1                  |
| the floors of the battalion?s     | '           |
| barracks                          |                    |
| were                              |                    |
| 22. Because of a considerable     | 1                  |
| delay of the 7.30am train,        | 1                  |
| delay of the 7.30am train,        |                    |
| 23. The young girl feared the     | 5                  |
| dog of the pensioner that always  | 9                  |
| barked                            |                    |
| when it saw her.                  |                    |
| 24. The admiral feared an attack  | were afloat        |
| on the support ships that         | word andat.        |
| 2                                 |                    |
| 25. The preschoolers rounded      | 5                  |
| up as many snails as they could   | 9                  |
| find for                          |                    |
| another busy day.                 |                    |
| 26. To help the penguins digest,  | 3                  |
| zookeepers urged patrons not to   |                    |
| deep                              |                    |
| fry fish.                         |                    |
| 27. The vegan encouraged the      | 5                  |
| new diet of her friend who used   |                    |
| to eat                            |                    |
| almost anything.                  |                    |
| 28. The arbiter encouraged a      | were at war.       |
| dialogue between the opponents    | Were at war.       |
| that?                             |                    |
| 29. The woman complained that     | 5                  |
| the bicycles of the neighbour?s   | ~                  |
| kids                              |                    |
| were leaving black                |                    |
| marks.                            |                    |
| 30. The interviewer listened      | 3                  |
| patiently before noticing that he | `       |
| did                               |                    |
| not pay attention.                |                    |
| not pay attornion                 |                    |

| Original Sentence                   | Participant Answer             |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 31. The cult members mourned        | 5                              |
| the death of their guru who had     |                                |
| promised                            |                                |
| them an eternal                     |                                |
| afterlife.                          |                                |
| 32. The campaigners celebrated      | was positive.                  |
| the outcome of the elections that   |                                |
| ?                                   | _                              |
| 33. The cat impressed all at the    | 5                              |
| talent show by demonstrating an     |                                |
| understanding of                    |                                |
| calculus.                           | 1                              |
| 34. After washing the salad with    | 1                              |
| its firm green leaves, the scullion |                                |
| 35. Mr Farage exalted the           | 5                              |
| proposal by the US president        | 3                              |
| which involved                      |                                |
| privatisation of the                |                                |
| NHS.                                |                                |
| 36. The receptionist welcomed       | was just appointed.            |
| the secretary of the diplomats      |                                |
| who?                                |                                |
| 37. Before selling his mansion      | 1                              |
| with all its antique interior, the  |                                |
| earl                                |                                |
|                                     |                                |
| 38. Because of unexpectedly         | public gatherings were banned. |
| harsh weather conditions in         |                                |
| spring, ?                           | _                              |
| 39. The foody relished the dish     | 5                              |
| by the head chef which was very     |                                |
| spicy.                              | was being was d                |
| 40. The scientist criticised the    | was being used.                |
| methods of the study that           |                                |
| ?                                   |                                |

|                                     | Davidain and Anarran   |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------|
| Original Sentence                   | Participant Answer     |
| 41. According to the monk in        | 5                      |
| plaster cast, the steps down the    |                        |
| temple                              |                        |
| were a bit steep.                   |                        |
| 42. The inspector learnt that the   | 1                      |
| handbag of the diplomat?s wife      |                        |
| had                                 |                        |
| been                                |                        |
| 43. The TV channel announced        | 5                      |
| a report on the duke who had        |                        |
| some dubious                        |                        |
| friends in the past.                |                        |
| 44. The screen showed error         | were selected.         |
| messages of the programme that      |                        |
| ?                                   |                        |
| 45. All her friends chipped in for  | a cake.                |
| her birthday to surprise her with   |                        |
| ?                                   |                        |
| 46. The musicians deflected         | they had been pirated. |
| criticisms of their new CD,         |                        |
| stating?                            |                        |
| 47. The sleazy agent harassed       | 5                      |
| the mistress of the house who       |                        |
| wasn't as                           |                        |
| gullible as he                      |                        |
| expected.                           |                        |
| 48. The internet troll harassed     | was quite young.       |
| the candidate of the Lib Dems       | mas quite young.       |
| who                                 |                        |
| ?                                   |                        |
| 49. The friendly mailman            | 1                      |
| delivered a small parcel to         |                        |
| 50. The officer recalled that sails | 1                      |
| of the buccaneer?s ship were        | -                      |
|                                     |                        |

| Original Sentence                                       | Participant Answer      |
|---|-------------------------|
| 51. The guest congratulated the                         | Participant Answer 5    |
| hostess of the party which was                          | 3                       |
| the   |                         |
|   |                         |
| biggest event in town.                                  | alastad as president    |
| 52. The principal congratulated                         | elected as president.   |
| the supervisor of the students                          |                         |
| who   |                         |
| F2 When I was vounger my                                | store in the night slav |
| 53. When I was younger my                               | stars in the night sky. |
| mother used to read me bedtime                          |                         |
| stories about   |                         |
| E4. The film was town apart by                          |  F                  |
| 54. The film was torn apart by                          | 5                       |
| cineastes, but most people                              |                         |
| thought it  |                         |
| was too pretentious.                                    | E                |
| 55. The data spooked the advocate of the standard model | 5                       |
|   |                         |
| who had   |                         |
| expected the exact                                      |                         |
| opposite. 56. The shouting spooked the                  | were indoors.           |
| neighbour of the newlyweds who                          | were indoors.           |
| rieignbour of the newlyweds who                         |                         |
| 57. The overeager Crown                                 | 1                       |
| Prosecutor alleged that the                             | '                       |
| defendant   |                         |
| 58. The expert claimed the                              | 5                       |
| earthquake was due to a seismic                         | J                       |
| slip from   |                         |
| drilling on an oil rig.                                 |                         |
| 59. The keynote uplifted the                            | 5                       |
|   | S                |
| participants at the meeting who did not                 |                         |
|   |                         |
| expect such   |                         |
| eloquence.  | wore orphans            |
| 60. The puppet show uplifted                            | were orphans.           |
| the children at the ward that                           |                         |
| !  |                         |

| Original Sentence  | Participant Answer   |
|--|--|
| 61. Because of last night?s TV documentary, the young woman vowed                                | 5  |
| never to eat meat  |  |
| again.   |  |
| 62. The prime minister held a press conference and shortly afterwards                            | 1  |
| 63. The burglars fooled the watchman of the bank who was not expecting such audacity.            | 5  |
| 64. The pay rise surprised the speaker of the unionists who ?                                    | did not expect it all.   |
| 65. The fishermen hated the large swarms of jellyfish because they would clog their nets.        | 5  |
| 66. The old lady brought her   | fruits to eat.   |
| troublesome grandchildren some ?   |  |
| 67. The constant rain frustrated the celebrities in the camp which was infested with             | 5  |
| cockroaches.   | Observato di constanti di const |
| 68. The reviews frustrated the co-authors of the researcher who?                                 | though it was an amazing topic.  |
| 69. The postman was scared off by a large dog, so next time?                                     | he threw the package.  |
| 70. The archaeologist discovered an unusual fossil which turned out to be a discarded film prop. | 5  |
| Harrana,   |  |

| Original Sentence  | Participant Answer     |
|--|------------------------|
| 71. The detective filed the                                  | 5                      |
| testimony of the witness who                                 |                        |
| was very   |                        |
| cooperative.   |                        |
| 72. The secretary filed the                                  | she was innocent.      |
| letters from the department that                             |                        |
| 72 The Jollings man watched                                  | F               |
| 73. The lollipop man watched the traffic as a trail of ducks | 5                      |
| waddled  |                        |
| across the road.   |                        |
| 74. The invited speaker                                      | 1                      |
| switched on the microphone                                   | '                      |
| before   |                        |
| belole   |                        |
| 75. The plumber cleared the                                  | 5                      |
| kitchen sink of the old lady who                             | o l                    |
| was  |                        |
| living on her own.   |                        |
| 76. The mechanic fixed the                                   | was faulty.            |
| brakes of the F1 car that?                                   | ,                      |
| 77. The picnic was going so well                             | 5                      |
| until swans from the pond                                    |                        |
| feasted on   |                        |
| all the bread.   |                        |
| 78. The accomplice of the                                    | 5                      |
| recently convicted fraudster                                 |                        |
| alleged they   |                        |
| were only in it for the                                      |                        |
| money.   |                        |
| 79. The priest worshipped the                                | 5                      |
| book by the medieval bishop                                  |                        |
| which was  |                        |
| precious and unique.   |                        |
| 80. The pop fan cherished the                                | had back to back hits. |
| albums of the band that?                                     |                        |

| Original Sentence                  | Participant Answer |
|------------------------------------|--------------------|
| 81. The soldiers charged into      | 5                  |
| the jungle in the search of hidden |                    |
| Aztec                              |                    |
| artefacts.                         |                    |
| 82. The famous entertainer was     | 1                  |
| given a bunch of flowers after     |                    |
| 83. The tabloid vilified the       | 5                  |
| landlord of the estate who did not |                    |
| care                               |                    |
| about fire regulations.            |                    |
| 84. The headmaster questioned      | were witnesses.    |
| the classmate of the bullies who   |                    |
| ?                                  |                    |
| 85. The company was worried        | 5                  |
| about their eco-friendly image,    |                    |
| so they                            |                    |
| planted some trees.                |                    |
| 86. The priest looked after the    | 1                  |
| asylum seekers because             |                    |
| 87. The kids mocked the goose      | 5                  |
| of the farmer which was            |                    |
| chattering                         |                    |
| franticly.                         |                    |
| 88. The cops chased the            | had drugs.         |
| getaway car of the mobsters that   |                    |
| ?                                  |                    |
| 89. The passengers on the bus      | 5                  |
| looked on in confusion as they     |                    |
| forded                             |                    |
| through the River                  |                    |
| Clyde.                             |                    |
| 90. Given the reports about        | 5                  |
| quicksand, the adventurer          |                    |
| decided the                        |                    |
| best would be to wait.             |                    |

| Original Sentence Participant Answer  91. The businesswoman met the mayor of the city who was |
|---|
|   |
| mayor of the city who was   |
|   |
| nominated for   |
| an OBE.   |
| 92. The negotiator met the was in charge of the case.   |
| deputies of the chairman who?   |
| 93. The church choir had to stop could not proceed.   |
| unexpectedly after the organist ?.  |
| 94. Since the mountain was had to wait.   |
| incredibly dangerous, the rock  |
| climbers  |
| ?   |
| 95. The cardinal idolized the 5   |
| painter of the famous fresco who  |
| was   |
| also an exquisite   |
| sculptor.   |
| 96. The promoter hired the had the best pitch.  |
| staffers of the catering firm that  |
| ?   |
| 97. Thanks to stricter speed 1  |
| checks on national motorways  |
| ····  |
| 98. They waded through dusty 5  |
| cobwebs in the attic until they   |
| found   |
| boxes full of old board   |
| games.  |
| 99. The conductor praised the 5   |
| baritone singer of the choir who  |
| was a   |
| bit full of himself.  |
| 100. The head of state praised gave donations.  |
| the work of the charities that  |
| ?   |

| 101. The family found it difficult to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.  102. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like?  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed, |                                      | Dantiain and Amanan  |
|--|--------------------------------------|----------------------|
| to adjust to living in France since none of them spoke French.  102. Looking back over 3 he was a lot better.  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | Original Sentence                    | Participant Answer   |
| none of them spoke French.  102. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like?  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  |                                      | 5                    |
| French.  102. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like?  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   |                                      |                      |
| 102. Looking back over 3 months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like?  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   |                               |                      |
| months of receiving psychiatric help, he felt like?  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   |                                      |                      |
| help, he felt like?  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were  relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who? 109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  |                                      | he was a lot better. |
| like?  103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were  relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the  adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  |                                      |                      |
| 103. The freshman read through the notes from the tutor which were  relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the  adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  |                                      |                      |
| the notes from the tutor which were relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   |                                      |                      |
| relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  |                                      | 5                    |
| relevant for the exam.  104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | the notes from the tutor which       |                      |
| 104. The applicant read through the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | were                                 |                      |
| the small print in the forms that ?  105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the   | relevant for the exam.               |                      |
| 7 105. The barman slid a whiskey and a beer over to the cowboy from the  adverts. 106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were 107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week. 108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who? 109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   |                                      | were sent in.        |
| and a beer over to the cowboy from the  adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were   107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   | the small print in the forms that    |                      |
| and a beer over to the cowboy from the  adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were   107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   | ?                                    |                      |
| from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  |                                      | 5                    |
| from the adverts.  106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | and a beer over to the cowboy        |                      |
| 106. The pianist noted that the strings of the soloist's violin were   107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   | from the                             |                      |
| strings of the soloist's violin were  107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took     place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   | adverts.                             |                      |
| 107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | 106. The pianist noted that the      | 1                    |
| 107. The commentary delighted the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | strings of the soloist's violin were |                      |
| the organizer of the rally which took  place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  |                                      |                      |
| took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | 107. The commentary delighted        | 5                    |
| took place in London last week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | the organizer of the rally which     |                      |
| week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | took                                 |                      |
| week.  108. The parade delighted the devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,  | place in London last                 |                      |
| devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   |                                      |                      |
| devotees of the queen who?  109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   | 108. The parade delighted the        | were in the crowd.   |
| 109. Shortly before the fully occupied passenger plane had landed,   |                                      |                      |
| occupied passenger plane had landed,   | 109. Shortly before the fully        | 1                    |
| landed,  | occupied passenger plane had         |                      |
|  |                                      |                      |
| 110. The management of the 1   |                                      |                      |
|  | 110. The management of the           | 1                    |
| successful supermarket chain   | successful supermarket chain         |                      |
| planned  | planned                              |                      |
| ·  | ·                                    |                      |

| Original Sentence                   | Participant Answer          |
|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 111. The coach ridiculed the        | 5                           |
| groundsman of the football pitch    |                             |
| which                               |                             |
| was very untidy.                    |                             |
| 112. The boss yelled at the         | were present.               |
| trainees of the foreman who?        |                             |
| 113. The wizard invited             | 5                           |
| acclaimed adventures to his         |                             |
| castle to steal                     |                             |
| their vast riches.                  |                             |
| 114. The skateboarders had to       | had a bad fall.             |
| bandage up their knees after        |                             |
| they?                               |                             |
| 115. The playboy approached         | 5                           |
| the main actress of the movie       |                             |
| which had                           |                             |
| some explicit scenes in             |                             |
| it.                                 |                             |
| 116. The anthropologist             | was at the site.            |
| approached the chief of the         |                             |
| natives who?                        |                             |
| 117. The teenagers barricaded       | 5                           |
| the main entrance of the school     |                             |
| so that                             |                             |
| no one could get in.                |                             |
| 118. The robber decided to          | that he knew the occupants. |
| leave empty-handed after he         | ·                           |
| found                               |                             |
| ?                                   |                             |
| 119. The insurer appeased the       | 5                           |
| tenant of the flat which reportedly |                             |
| had                                 |                             |
| a water leak.                       |                             |
| 120. The baroness snubbed the       | did not let her in.         |
| housemaids of the millionaire       |                             |
| who?                                |                             |

| Original Sentence                  | Participant Answer |
|------------------------------------|--------------------|
| 121. The politician blustered that | 5                  |
| future rioters will be facing the  |                    |
| full force of the law.             |                    |
| 122. Due to new safety             |                    |
| regulations, the construction of   |                    |
| the new bridge ?                   |                    |
| 123. The pirate guarded the        | 5                  |
| treasure chest of the captain who  |                    |
| was notorious for his cruelty.     |                    |
| 124. The soldier guarded the       |                    |
| gates to the palace that?          |                    |
| 125. The ranger of the forest      | 1                  |
| near the city borders forbid       | _                  |
| 126. The van driver nearly         | 5                  |
| crashed into the pedestrians       |                    |
| because he was staring at his      |                    |
| phone.                             | -                  |
| 127. The rich uncle visited the    | 5                  |
| graduation of his niece who got a  |                    |
| first-class degree.                |                    |
| 128. The shooter missed two        |                    |
| targets at the firing range that?  | 47                 |
| Time taken                         | 17 mins            |